

Geofencing.

Track employees and keep them accountable while on the go with geofencing.

In today's mobile-first world, keeping track of employees is tough, especially when they're on the go, working at multiple sites, or clocking in remotely. With geofencing from the isolated Time & Expense, geography is no longer an issue for managers and supervisors!

Geofencing is perfect for industries where employees work away from the office, including:

- Construction
- Home health care
- Janitorial services
- Service contractors

Benefits of geofencing in Time & Expense

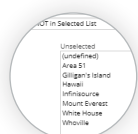

- Know exactly where your employees are, even when working away from the office
- Boost employee accountability
- Keep the team on track
- Automated process eliminates the stress of tracking employees

Geofencing uses reliable mapping data to create geographical boundaries, called fences. When employees clock in or out through the isolated mobile app, an alert pops up to show whether the punch was made inside or outside the defined fence boundaries.

With Geofencing in Time & Expense, it's easy to track employees when they're on the go and keep them accountable. View data at a glance in the dashboard or on the employee time card, with instant visibility into the clock-in and clock-out locations of employees.

Have multiple job sites or work locations? No problem. Simply set up multiple fences based on the longitude and latitude coordinates.

Use geofencing within Time & Expense to keep track of your employees and their locations when they're on the clock.
